Facts And Circumstances Test

Explanation

I Facts and circumstances Although the Phoenix Center does not meet the safe harbor test for public support (33-1/3%) in 2011, it believes that the following facts and circumstances support the organization's continuance as a public charity The Phoenix Center has grown and developed since its inception to become a voice for consumer welfare by promoting free markets, competition and individual freedom and liberty The Phoenix Center was formed to study broad public-policy issues related to governance, social and economic conditions, with a particular emphasis on the law and economics of telecommunications and high-tech industries During its existence, the Phoenix Center was busy accomplishing these objectives by - Authoring over one hundred scholarly papers, many of which were published in leading academic journals, - Conducting a study for the United States Department of Commerce on the "Valley of Death" for basic research, - Participating in a United States Department of State trip to Manila and Hanoi as part of President Bush's "Digital Freedom Initiative" to talk about Universal Service and broadband deployment, -Developing a new "Broadband Adoption Index" with the generous sponsorship of the Government of Portugal and additional support by the Government of Brazil that was republished in the Federal Communications Law Journal, - Participating in a United States Department of State Conference in Ghana on the benefits of broadband deployment, - Advising the Government of Peru, under the auspices of the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), on telecommunications and broadband policies, - Serving at the request of the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission for three years (including acting as Chairman) of the North American Numbering Council (the Federal Advisory Board charged with advising the Federal Communications Commission on telephone numbering issues) (<http://www.fcc.gov/wcb/cpd/Nanc/nancback.html>), - Testifying before the United States Congress, and the Federal Communications Commission, among other federal, state, local and international governmental entities, and - Holding various briefings and symposia to discuss the Phoenix Center's research, in addition to participating in various other academic conferences - In 2011 specifically, the Phoenix Center, among other things, published thirteen Phoenix Center papers, had eight of its papers published in academic journals, authored six op-eds, sponsored three public educational events, performed pro bono work for the National Telecommunications and Information Administration ("NTIA") to analyze data from the National Broadband Map and provided the results of this research at a public symposium, had its research cited by leading policymakers (including the Speaker of the U S House of Representatives and the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission), and had its staff present Phoenix Center research at a variety of national conferences In addition, Phoenix Center President Lawrence J Spiwak served as co-chair of the Federal Communications Bar Association's Federal Communications Law Journal Committee All of the Phoenix Center's research may be downloaded free by the public both from the Phoenix Center's website (www.phoenix-center.org) and from the Social Science Research Network (www.ssrn.com), where Phoenix Center Chief Economist Dr George Ford and Phoenix Center President Lawrence J Spiwak are in the top one and two percent of authors downloaded, respectively Under its current fundraising model, the Phoenix Center prepares a list of various topics it intends to address in the coming year in its annual report and solicits general support from public, corporate and individual contributors As the year progresses and the debate evolves, new or expanded topics arise and funding for these projects is also solicited II Continuous and bona fide program for solicitation of funds The Phoenix Center has a continuous and bona fide program for the solicitation of funds With respect to contributions, the Phoenix Center regularly and actively solicits contributions through its web-site, business associates, acquaintances and others It also solicits general support contributions through publishing of its agenda of upcoming topics The results of these efforts have been a steady increase in its public support percentage, as illustrated below Year ended December 31 2011 16.06% 2010 18.65% 2009 17.76% 2008 14.27% 2007 13.20% III Other facts and circumstances on how we benefit the general public The Phoenix Center continues to serve the interests of the general public by - Serving as a clearing house of ideas and as a free source for academic research in order to raise the level of public dialectic, - Website visitors can avail at no cost a variety of research tools, including Phoenix Center Policy Papers, Phoenix Center Policy Bulletins, and Phoenix Center Policy Perspectives, - As a research organization, the Phoenix Center does not lobby, file comments at regulatory agencies, or join advocacy coalitions As such, given our dispassionate and "neutral" role and reputation for rigorous analysis, Phoenix Center staff are often asked to serve on government advisory boards, participate in government sponsored trips and events, and to testify before government agencies and Congress, and - Sponsoring programs, lectures and conferences which are open to the general public IV Board of Directors The Board of Directors is public in nature and represents persons from various professions who commonality is in sharing the Phoenix Center's mission and goals These persons are not related parties A listing of our current Board and their resumes are as follows A Lawrence J Spiwak President Mr Spiwak is a prolific author whose scholarly books and papers are frequently cited by policymakers around the world, including the United States Federal Communications Commission, the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, the United States Federal Trade Commission, the United States Department of State, the United States Department of Commerce, the United States Code Annotated, the Congressional Research Service, American Jurisprudence (2d), the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), and the Organisation for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD) Mr Spiwak's work has also been featured by major media news outlets such as The Economist, the Wall Street Journal, Business Week, the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times and the Washington Post, and he is ranked among the top two percent of downloaded authors on the Social Science Research Network ("SSRN") In addition to his academic responsibilities, Mr Spiwak often expresses his views and analysis in such major outlets as CNET.com, Forbes.com, The Hill, the Washington Times, and the Legal Times In 2007, Mr Spiwak was privileged to be selected by the FCC's Chairman's Office to participate in a trip to Southeast Asia as part of President Bush's Digital Freedom Initiative (DFI), and in July 2008 he was selected to participate in the U S State Department's West Africa ICT road map to opportunities conference in Ghana Mr Spiwak is a member in good standing of the bars of New York, Massachusetts, the District of Columbia, and the U S Court of Appeals for the D C Circuit Mr Spiwak received his B A with special honors from the George Washington University in 1986 (Special Honors, Middle Eastern Studies) and his J D from the Benjamin N Cardozo School of Law in 1989, where he was the international law editor of the Cardozo Moot Court Board and served on the National Moot Court Team He, his wife and their daughter live in North Bethesda, MD B Dr George Ford Director George S Ford a co-founder of the Phoenix Center and currently serves as its Chief Economist Dr Ford is a prolific and noted scholar, and has published numerous papers in leading academic journals such as Applied Economics, the Quarterly Review of Economics and Finance, Journal of Regulatory Economics, Kilos, the Federal Communications Law Journal, Comlaw Conspicuous, the Journal of Law and Economics, the Journal of Business and Empirical Economics, the NYU Journal of Law and Business, Hastings Communications and Entertainment Law Journal, the International Journal of the Economics of Business, and the Yale Journal of Regulation Dr Ford is ranked in the top 1% of authors listed overall with the Social Science Research Network ("SSRN") Prior to joining the Phoenix Center full time, Dr Ford was the Chief Economist of Strategic Policy and Planning at Z-Tel Communications Z-Tel was a start-up telecommunications provider headquartered in Tampa, Florida Dr Ford was responsible for performing and evaluating economic analyses pertaining to Z-Tel's strategic plans and public policy positions Prior to joining Z-Tel, Dr Ford was Senior Economist at MCI-Worldcom and, prior to joining WorldCom, was a Sen
